FALLS FROM SHIP AND IS DROWNED

Second Mate George Shackelford Meets Death in Delaware River.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Lancaster, Va., May 22.—Information was received here last night by telegraph that George Edward Shackelford, formerly of this county, had fallen from one of the Merchant and Miners' steamers in the Delaware River and been drowned. He was second mate on the steamer, and expected to be promoted to the position of first mate in a short time. It is not known here how the accident occurred. The body was recovered and will be brought to Lancaster for burial. He was about twenty-four years old, and was unmarried.

The remains of Captain William Henderson, who died in a Baltimore hospital last Thursday, were brought home yesterday and interred in the family burying-ground near Kilmar-nock, in the presence of a large assembly of his neighbors and friends. Captain Henderson and his only brother entered the Confederate Army at the outbreak of the Civil War in a company of the Fortieth Virginia Infantry, of which their father was captain. On the retirement of their father, owing to disability, his son William, who was first lieutenant, was elected captain, in which office he continued to the end of the war. At the time of his death he was commander of Lawson-Ball Camp of Confederate Veterans, many of whom turned out yesterday to do honor to their dead commander. He had been for many years clerk of the school board of Wicomico District, a member of Kilmar-nock Baptist Church, and in every respect a model citizen. He was in his sixty-ninth year, was twice married, and is survived by his second wife and seven children.

The location of the proposed high school in the upper part of White Chapel District is causing considerable trouble. Wheaton and Litwalton are the only two contestants for the school, and last summer the district school board decided by a vote of two to one to locate the school at Wheaton. Those in favor of Litwalton took an appeal to the county trustee electoral board, which, after hearing the case, reversed the action of the district board and decided that the school should be located at Litwalton. The district board, holding that the trustee electoral board had no authority to locate a school, but only to affirm or reverse the action of the district board, met recently and by a vote of two to one selected another site for the school near the village of Wheaton. This action on the part of the district school board has aroused much feeling and indignation among those who favor Litwalton, and who contend that as only two places were contending for the school the trustee electoral board has full power under the law to locate the school at Litwalton. They have employed Hon. Thomas J. Downing as counsel, and he has applied to Judge Wright for an injunction to restrain the school board from proceeding further till the case can be settled according to the power of law.

HEADS WAR VETERANS

Henry Duffield Is Elected at New York Meeting. New York, May 22.—Henry M. Duffield, U. S. A., of Michigan, was elected commander-in-chief of the Naval Military Order of the Spanish-American War at the session of the National Cemetery here yesterday.

The delegations from the New York Commandery had been instructed to vote for Theodore Roosevelt, and several weeks ago the commandery asked Colonel T. W. H. Draper, of California, who is now abroad, to meet or write Mr. Roosevelt and ask him if he would accept. No word has been received from either Colonel Draper or Mr. Roosevelt, and therefore the latter's name was not brought forward as a candidate.

It was stated, however, that he would be asked to accept the office of commander-in-chief of the national encampment to be held in Denver September 6, 7 and 8.

Colonel Roosevelt's name did not escape mention in the speech-making at night when the New York Commandery gave a dinner to the National Commandery. Rear Admiral Purcell F. Harrington (retired), the toastmaster, told of the day when he showed the then President through the Norfolk Navy Yard. The President was greatly pleased with the new Dreadnought.

"I remarked," said the admiral, "that if we had had ships like these in 1897, there would not have been any war with Spain."

"That's all right, admiral," replied the President, "but if there had not been any war with Spain, I should not have been President."

Brigadier-General Walter Howe, U. S. A., commander of the Department of the East, won applause when he declared frankly that he was no man of peace. "I am for peace," said the general, "when there is nothing worth fighting about; but I believe in carrying through a good war to a finish; I want to see the navy increased by a number of battleships like the Florida."

"Increased four a year?" asked one diner.

"Yes, four a year, or even eight," answered General Howe. "Whether we have a good, long, hard war with a country like—well, we might say, like Japan—or with any other country, the cost of even a man's life is very little held in the balance against country's success."

EMPORIA SUFFERS HEAVY FIRE LOSS

Sawmill of Manufacturing Plant Burns, With Loss of $100,000.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Emporia, Va., May 22.—The sawmill department of the Emporia Manufacturing Company of North Emporia was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. This portion of the plant was built at an original cost of approximately $100,000, and was one of the largest sawmill industries in Southern Virginia.

The fire was discovered by an employee of the mill in what is known as the "sawdust" house, a building where fuel is stored. This building is located adjacent to the boiler rooms of the plant, from which sawdust is taken to supply fuel for the several large furnaces.

An alarm was immediately given by the man upon discovering the blaze, but before the local volunteer fire brigade reached the scene of the fire, it had rapidly spread to the main building of the mill and was rapidly eating its way to the engine and boiler compartments. Owing to a lack of water pressure, the fire apparatus belonging to the sawmill company could not be used to any advantage.

During the fire an explosion occurred in the engine room, which scattered iron and other flying debris several hundred yards away. Two freight cars belonging to the Southern Railway standing on a track near the mill site were consumed by the fire.

The plant was only recently overhauled, with several additions being made, among which was the installation of a modern expensive bandsaw equipment.

The loss of the mill will affect about 800 employees, who will be thrown out of employment.

It is known that only about 40 per cent of the actual loss is covered by insurance. The plant will be rebuilt as soon as possible if the present plans of the management do not miscarry.

W. F. Deal, of Emporia, is president, while Harry Schwartz, of Richmond, is treasurer of the company.

ALLEGED GAMBLING RESORT IS RAIDED AT LYNCHBURG.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Lynchburg, Va., May 22.—At an early hour this morning the police raided an alleged gambling resort over 715 Main Street and arrested Williams Seay and R. I. Barnes, charging them with maintaining the place. Seventeen men who were in the room were recognized as witnesses for the trial Tuesday. The police were so clever in the raid that the plain clothes men entered the room and stood watching the game for a time before they were recognized.

Negro Club Raided.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Lynchburg, Va., May 22.—The police last night raided a negro club on Fifth Street, and they will attempt to discontinue the place under the disorderly resort charge. This is the only chartered negro club here.

WAS BERESFORD'S BODY CREMATED?

Everybody in Washington Wants to Know Details of Mystery.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, D. C., May 22.—"Who struck Billy Patterson?" is not in the same class with "Who is the woman behind the movements of Lord Beresford's mummy?" There is mystery everywhere—mystery compounded and mystery confounded. "Did the body come here at all?" is asked. "Who ordered it removed from the express office?" The air is full of questions. "Is this a scheme to put Lord Beresford, one of the greatest Lotharios in history, on the stage?" "Was the body really cremated to-day?" Everybody here claims to be "from Missouri." Newspaper reporters have traveled early and late in search of the mysterious woman who, from nobody knows where, has directed the course of the corpse that left Asheville, N. C., last Thursday afternoon.

Dr. McPherson Crichton, to whom the package was consigned, has declared: "I am at a loss to know why it (the mummy) should be shipped to me. I know absolutely nothing about it." Undertaker Lee is almost as silent as Beresford. "I have orders to cremate it to-day. The ashes will be turned over to a woman I do not know," is all that he would admit.

"Who gave you the orders to cremate the body?" he was asked.

"The weather was bad for the big Sunday school parade—almost as bad as inauguration day," was his reply.

"Does dampness interfere with your work, Mr. Leeds?" inquired a scribe.

"No, indeed. We are prepared to keep up a good fire regardless of the weather. If you have anything, call."

"It is rumored that Dr. Crichton has ordered you to ship the body to Baltimore?"

"Let it go at that," said Lee. "Put it that way."

Later, Dr. Crichton said that he did not know anything about the matter.

He could give no reason for his part in the case, and intimated that it might be a joke.

Sherlock Holmes might unravel the mystery, but Washington people are ready to give up in despair.

An old darkey who lives close to the crematory, when asked if Lord Beresford had been cremated to-day, said: "Who?"

"Lord Beresford."

"Ef he is, I don't know it. I did smell smoke, but I can't tell who it was."

All the Chinamen in that part of the town were silent in seven languages. "The only hope is that the woman in the case will give way to her natural desire and talk. It is generally believed that if the lord could come back—come back as Jeffries is trying to do—and be himself once more, he could marry here before night, as Washington has a third more women than men."
